

Toothbrush by Oral-B. Multi-injection by Engel.

Oral-B's revolutionary new CrossAction® toothbrush establishes an entirely new performance model in oral care technology. No wonder they chose Engel multi-injection technology to manufacture it.

Engel offers the industry's widest range of standard machine options and specialized molding processes. As companies around the world look for innovative molding solutions that add value at every stage of manufacturing, Engel provides incomparable expertise in injection machine technology, machine control, automation and process technology.

If you're looking for a global partner who is willing to push the limits for your competitive advantage, call Engel or visit us on the world wide web.

ENGEL

Engineered Molding Solutions